GEOGRAPHICAL DIVISIONS OF STREETS.

Washington is divided into four districts: Northeast, Southeast, Southwest and Northwest. These districts radiate from the Capitol as a center. The dividing lines are North Capitol Street, East Capitol, South Capitol, and a line drawn west through the Mall. The divisions are shown on the map by the heavy red lines intersecting at the Capitol.

Northwest is the principal district, and is the one always understood unless another is designated.

Each district has its own series of streets, with letters and numbers beginning from the Capitol.

Numbered streets extend north and south.

Lettered streets extend east and west.

To find any street, draw a straight line from its corresponding number or letter in the margin.

HOW TO USE THIS MAP.

The "Standard Guide" Marginal Reference System.

The letters and numbers in the margins correspond to the streets which bear the same letters and numbers, and are exactly in line with them. Note that the margin letters and numbers are in N. E., S. E., S. W. and N. W. sections corresponding to these districts of the city.

To find a street, draw an imaginary line straight down from its top-margin number, or straight across from its side-margin letter. This line will lie along the street.

The index references are by the marginal letters and numbers, which are also the letters and numbers of the streets, at or near the intersection of which the point is situated. Thus, to find the Patent Office: The index reference is, Patent Office, 8 F. Northwest is understood. From 8 in the northwest top margin and F in the northwest side margin draw straight lines until they meet, and here the point is found, at 8th and F streets.

Thus, the "Standard Guide's Marginal Reference System" gives both the position on the map and the location (actual or approximate) by streets. "Patent Office, 8 F" means that the Patent Office may be found by lines from 8 and F, and also that the Patent Office is situated at 8th and F streets.

The WASHINGTON STANDARD GUIDE is the best hand-book for visitors. It is practical, complete and handsomely illustrated. Price 35 cents. Sold everywhere.

This map was engraved by the MATTHEWS-NORTHRUP CO., makers of The Century Atlas, and the leading map engravers of this country. Of this map they say: "We consider the STANDARD GUIDE MAP OF WASHINGTON the best and handsomest city map we have ever made."
